

Lübeck 9th of December 2017

Lübeck is one of the oldest and most known trading cities of medieval throughout Germany. The city is famous for its tasty almond paste and the cute Christmas markets.

Our trip starts on Saturday at 08.15 am at Kiel central station from where we will take the train to Lübeck. After approximately one hour of travelling by train we will reach Lübeck where we will continue with a guided city tour.

Your guide will not only be full of knowledge about the history of Lübeck, but she will also teach us more about the medieval history of Lübeck. The tour will be in English.

After all this information, we will have the lunch break in a cozy restaurant where the group can rest a bit as well as eat and drink together. There will be a choice of typical German dishes, but they will also offer a vegetarian plate in order to have something for every taste.

After the lunch, we will visit the Christmas market in the Holy-Ghost hospital. More than 180 artisans present their fascinating works and you can have a look at them. It will also be possible to taste some hot drinks or try some small sweets. Please take your student IDs with you in order to get a discounted admission price.

After the Christmas markets there will be some spare time, which means everyone can individually explore the city of Lübeck a bit more.

At around 5 pm we will the the train back to Kiel.
